

SOLONS FORESEE WAR IN MEXICO

Chamberlain and Smoot Predict Intervention in Talks Before Military Men.

LARGER ARMY IS URGED

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood Shows that Battle is Not "Such Waster of Life."

Two Senators made speeches, which were construed as favoring intervention in Mexico, at the twenty-second annual banquet of the Second Corps Association of the Army of the Potomac held at the New Richmond last night. Men prominent in military affairs were present.

Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, declared that if the United States would uphold the Monroe doctrine, we must do so at the "point of the bayonet." He said that if it were maintained, the army must be "vitalized" as the South American republics are becoming restless.

"Things are not as I would like to see them," said Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah. "I cannot tell you what I know, I do not want intervention but rather than see the insults of Mexico continued, as the program of that country is, I want them to be shown that we mean business. The Spanish-American war was worth all the life and money that it cost."

Must Prepare for War.

Senator Smoot said that in his opinion universal peace is not possible now and that if peace was to be preserved at all the country must be prepared for war. "I believe in peace," declared the Senator, "but peace with honor."

"We are upholding the President in his attitude of nonintervention," said Senator Chamberlain, "but there are other countries of the world that have property and citizens there. Great Britain says 'if you would have us respect the Monroe doctrine you must uphold it and protect our citizens.' It devolves on the United States not only to protect their own citizens in Mexico, but those of other countries."

"There is no better way to preserve peace than to be prepared for war," continued Senator Chamberlain. "You can make as many peace treaties as you like, but we are human beings, and when we want to go to war we are going to do so. Some one has spoken of the Monroe doctrine as obsolete chivalry, and it may be so. The South American countries are getting restless, and if we must maintain it we must do so by vitalizing the army. The Monroe doctrine was made when this country was in its infancy and at the time when the South American countries were in their infancy."

"We know that when there is talk of intervention in Mexico there is talk of intervention in the South American countries. We must maintain a larger army. So long as I am at the head of military affairs I am going to see that a proper appropriation is made to maintain our army."

Wood Gives Statistics.

Gen. Leonard Wood presented statistics to show that the fatalities of peace equal and in many cases exceed those of war. He said that industrial work contributed more than 300,000 deaths a year.

"So you see," said Gen. Wood, "war is not such a waster of life."

He spoke of the sanitation methods introduced by the army in the island possessions and Panama, by which thousands of lives had been saved and are being saved every year that previously were lost by disease.

Other speakers were Senator John W. Kern, of Indiana, on the "Volunteer Soldier and the Battle of Gettysburg;" Hon. A. Herbert, former Secretary of War under President Cleveland, and an officer in Eleventh Alabama Regiment, on "The Confederate Soldier of 1861 and Fifty Years Later;" Corporal James Tanner, on "The Peace Monument of Gettysburg and What It Will Stand for;" Col. Myron M. Parker was toastmaster.

Among those present were: Gen. Andrews, Col. George A. Ames, Capt. R. Armour, Admiral G. W. Baird, Hon. James M. Baker, Col. Baker, Gen. Baldwin, Hon. G. C. Bantz, Raymond Beale, L. Beyer, J. A. Breckons, Capt. N. M. Brooks, Hon. John Burke, Hon. Thomas B. Catron, Hon. John G. Capers, Senator George E. Chamberlain, Mr. Clark, Col. J. C. Clegg, C. Connor, Capt. Connan, George E. Corson, Hon. WIRELESS AND CABLE IN "RACE"

Over-sea Messages by British Ambassador Are Rivals of Speed.

Finding the cable service between Washington and London interrupted yesterday, Ambassador Spring-Rice asked the Navy Department to send a message by wireless for him to the British foreign office. The navy accepted the message, and sent it out from the Arlington radio station last night to the station on the Eiffel Tower at Paris.

The message was brief, simply reporting the fact that the Ambassador found it impossible to communicate by cable. Later in the day, the cable service was restored, whereas the message sent by wireless will not reach London until today.

TWO ON TRIAL FOR OLD MAN'S MURDER

Arkansas Tragedy One of Most Cruel in State's Criminal Annals.

Benton, Ark., March 2.—The case of Clarence Deween and a man known only as "Joe," or "Shorty," both of whom are said to have confessed to the murder of L. H. Thompson, who was slain here last November, was taken up by the grand jury, which convened here today. The murder was one of the foulest ever committed here. The victim, who was an aged commission merchant, was murdered for the small sum of money he had in his possession.

One of the robbers held the aged man while the other beat in his skull with a coupling pin.

Deween was arrested shortly after the crime and is alleged to have confessed. His alleged accomplice remained at large until a few weeks ago, when he was found in Florida. Deween, who is not yet twenty-one years old, belongs to a respectable and well-to-do family in Belleville, Ill. His relatives have retained Charles F. Johnson, former lieutenant governor of Missouri, to defend him.

FOUR WIVES LIVING, HE WEDS HIS FIFTH

"Others Didn't Know How to Treat Him," Says Mrs. Robert O'Brien No. 5.

Fort Smith, March 2.—Robert O'Brien, a well-to-do farmer, living near Van Buren, was married today for the fifth time. He has four former wives living, all in the vicinity of Van Buren. Three of them divorced him, while he secured a divorce from the fourth.

The latest Mrs. O'Brien formerly was Mrs. Daisy Brown, a widow. They secured a marriage license last Sunday and "decided to fool" their friends, O'Brien said today. His wife asserts that his former wives "didn't know how to treat him."

LAND MEN PLEAD GUILTY.

Florida Agents Admit Conspiring and Conducting Lottery.

Kansas City, March 2.—R. H. Martin and Joseph Borders, Kansas City agents of the Florida Fruit Lands Company, pleaded guilty in Federal Court here today to conspiring and conducting a lottery in the sale of lands in the Everglades of Florida. Judge Van Valkenburg reserved sentence.

Martin and Borders were indicted with six other officers and agents of the land company last November on the charge of misuse of the mails. It was charged they misrepresented land sold in small tracts to 12,000 persons. Among those indicted was R. J. Bolles, of Jacksonville, Fla., president of the company. Martin and Borders are the first to answer to the indictments.

CUPID CALLS ON MINISTER.

Clergyman Quits Meeting to Tie Knot for Washington Man.

Baltimore, Md., March 2.—Dan Cupid intruded this morning at a ministers' meeting in Eutaw Street M. E. Church. Rev. Dr. E. L. Hubbard, pastor of the church, had to bow himself away from the other ministers to handle some business for little Dan.

Out in the chilly vestibule of the church he was handed a note from Mrs. Ada Rose, proprietor of the Colonial Candy Company, a member of Rev. Dr. Hubbard's church in Washington, asking him to tie the matrimonial knot for Harry Davis, 1400 H street northeast, Washington, D. C., and Miss Nellie Cooley, Dr. Hubbard complied.

KILL DEER ONE PER DAY.

Despite Heavy Population, Alameda County Good Field for Hunting.

Oakland, Cal., March 2.—Although it has a population of more than 300 persons to the square mile, 43 deer were killed in Alameda County during 1913, an average of considerably more than one a day.

Despite the heavy population of the county, there are parts of it, among the hills back of Oakland, where the deer for most of the year are unmolested, and they come within a close distance of the city. During the few weeks of the open season this hill district is scoured by the hunters and many fine bucks are found within easy walking distance of a trolley line.

WOMAN COMMISSIONER TO CLEAN UP NEW YORK PRISON

DR. KATHERINE B. DAVIS

New York, March 2.—After conducting a secret investigation into the methods that now prevail in the administration of the Tombs Prison, the place of confinement for all those awaiting trial in State and city criminal cases, Dr. Katherine B. Davis, commissioner of charities, has set about to revolutionize the entire management of the prison. Dr. Davis found that the conditions existing in the cell houses were positively abhorrent, partly because of grafting keepers who condoned the smuggling of drugs to the prisoners, and that the business management, with regard to the purchase of food for prisoners, the letting of contracts for repairs, etc., gave every evidence of the graft taint.

Cardinal's Nephew Sentenced.

Rome, March 2.—Giovanni Vannutelli, nephew of the cardinal of the same name, has just been sentenced to one year's imprisonment for inducing a youth named Baccelli, son of a well-known Roman professor, to steal $7,500 worth of his mother's jewelry. The youth, who is under twenty, was to devote the proceeds to an effort to break the bank at Monte Carlo, through a system of play devised by Baccelli. The cardinal, former lieutenant governor of Missouri, to defend him.

MAGAZINE BRINGS SUIT.

Metropolitan Publishers Ask $100,000 Damages from Postmaster.

New York, March 2.—The Metropolitan Magazine Company, publisher of the Metropolitan Magazine, today sued Edward A. Morgan, postmaster of this city, for $100,000 damages.

The complaint, filed by Attorney Charles E. Kelly, alleges that Morgan, subsequent to the action of President Wilson in permitting the February issue of the Metropolitan Magazine to pass through the mails, referred to certain pictures in the magazine as "obscene."

The pictures in the February issue of the magazine which caused the trouble were reproductions of Paul Manahits sculpture. His work has been exhibited at the National Academy, it is declared, and one of the statues had been purchased by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. It is charged that Postmaster Morgan held up 16,000 bags of magazines consigned to Western cities for two days. The company appealed to President Wilson and he overruled Morgan and directed the release of the mail.

NEWPORT NAVY WOMEN ADOPT NEW SWEDISH PHYSICAL CULTURE

Thirty Members of College Colony Don Gym Suits and Take First Lessons.

Newport, March 2.—Thirty members of the cottage colony with army and navy officers' wives and daughters, carrying suit cases, walked into a hall this morning. Half an hour later they appeared in natty black silk gymnasium costumes with white middie blouses, black silk stockings, and white canvas shoes. For an hour they took their first lesson in the Swedish physical exercises under direction of Lieut. Joe Morrison, the athletic naval expert from the Naval Academy Training School. This plan will be followed three mornings a week, simple leg, arm, and trunk movements were used today.

Mrs. Morrison, wife of Lieut. Morrison, called one of the handsomest married women in the navy, was the model, being an expert in the exercises selected.

In the class were Miss Elizabeth Sands, Mrs. Walter S. Andrews, Miss Katherine Knight, Miss Doris Durrell, Mrs. Livingston Hunt, Mrs. Homer Grant, Mrs. Kenneth Whiting, Mrs. Reginald R. Belknap, Mrs. George W. Laws, and others, besides a large gallery of women spectators.

Trunkmakers Strike.

St. Louis, March 2.—The number of trunkmakers on strike in St. Louis was increased to 300 today when employees of a second factory walked out when recognition of the Industrial Workers of the World organization, with which the trunkmakers are affiliated, was refused. The workers in one factory walked out several days ago. At the largest factory in the city none of the men struck today, but threats were made that they would quit work when their employers formally refused to recognize the union.

DANIELS FEELS DEATH OF COLORED EMPLOYEE

William H. Wilkes Had Served Thirty-seven Years in Office of Secretary of Navy.

Thirty-seven years of faithful service by William H. Wilkes, as colored messenger in the office of the Secretary of the Navy, ended with his death Sunday evening at his home, 1277 Twelfth street northwest. He had been ill several weeks with a complication of diseases.

Yesterday everybody who knew Wilkes paid him a tribute. Secretary Daniels gave out a statement in which he called him one of the most faithful and devoted servants he had ever known.

Wilkes was one of the fast disappearing ante-bellum type of negro. Born in Baltimore on February 11, 1847, he enlisted in the navy and cruised with some of its most distinguished officers. He was body servant to Admiral Porter for years. It was on the latter's recommendation that Wilkes was appointed messenger by Secretary Thompson in 1877. He was liked equally well by all the Secretaries who have come and gone since then, and collected an interesting set of autographs of men in public life in Washington during the last generation.

Wilkes was a great admirer of Col. Roosevelt, who was one time Assistant Secretary of the Navy. Once when some body told him that Mr. Roosevelt liked him very much, he replied: "Why, I pray for Mr. Roosevelt three times every day."

Several attaches of the Secretary's office visited Wilkes in his last hours and found him as cheerful as ever. Wilkes is survived by a wife and several grown children. A daughter teaches in one of the colored schools in the District.

AMERICAN IS KILLED; CAROTHERS LEAVES TO CONFER WITH CARRANZA

El Paso, March 2.—George C. Carothers, diplomatic agent of the State Department, left El Paso tonight for Nogales, Sonora, where he will confer with Gen. Carranza on the case of William S. Benton. Meanwhile the committee representing the United States and Great Britain, which was forbidden by Col. Fidel Avila, of Juarez, to go to Chihuahua Sunday and examine the body of Benton and determine the manner in which he was slain, remains in El Paso without plans for further procedure.

The commission probably will await the result of the Carranza-Carothers conference. It was said that the visit of Carothers to Nogales may end in permission being granted Carranza to pass through American territory from Nogales to Juarez, in order to hasten his arrival here and thus hasten the investigation of the Benton case.

John Harmon, who was thirty years old, was found in Madera with his head beaten almost to a pulp. Upon his throat could be seen the imprints of fingers, showing he was also choked. No political significance is attached to the killing of Harmon, but the murder has caused fear among the Americans in Madera. Harmon came to Mexico from Syracuse, N. Y., and was a graduate of an Eastern college.

ADMIRAL'S HEIR SUES UNCLE.

J. V. Dahlgren Wants Relative to "Settle Up."

New York, March 2.—John Vinton Dahlgren, grandson of the late Rear Admiral John A. Dahlgren, brought an action in the Surrogate's Court today to compel his uncle, Eric B. Dahlgren, guardian of his estate under the will of his late father, to make a settlement. The estate now amounts to about $72,000. Dahlgren became of age June 30 last and asks that the accounting cover the period from October 31, 1899, until that date. The report of the guardian shows that young Dahlgren has drawn nothing from the estate, having received an allowance from his mother, who married Harry Lehr in 1901.
